Contamination Control and More

A softwall cleanroom is a versatile solution for any industry that needs to control particulate during a production process. Its advanced contamination control and easy accessibility create a practical, comfortable working environment for maximum productivity.

Easily Move, Modify and Upgrade

A softwall cleanroom can be free-standing or built utilizing a portion of your existing walls or other architecture. This gives you the flexibility to move, modify, upgrade, or expand the room, making it a long-term investment for your organization. Its smaller size and mobility allow you to put it tight spaces and move it nearly anywhere within your facility or to another location.

Built to your Exact Specs

Every organization has different requirements for cleanrooms. Our cleanroom engineers work closely with you to determine your needs, sort out the options and create a customized room. Dozens of options are available for doors, lighting, filtration and more, and sizes range from small process enclosures to large cleanrooms. A complete list of options and specs is on page two.

Easy to Install and Maintain

Your softwall cleanroom is pre-fabricated at the factory for quick installation, usually in 1-2 days. Easily install the room yourself with complete instructions, or have our crew do it for you. Ongoing maintenance is simple, with easy-to-clean components.

Built for Strength and Durability

A heavy-duty frame interlocks with the ceiling grid for superior strength that won't sag over time. A variety of frames, wall panel materials and doors are offered to meet your requirements for strength, chemical resistance and overall security.

Easy on Your Bottom Line

The affordability of a softwall cleanroom makes it the #1 choice in virtually all industries. You can almost always find room in your facility and in your budget to add a softwall cleanroom, and you'll see immediate results in productivity.
